

SAVE THE DATE - January 30, 2009

Registration - further information will be coming in December

What: A forum to discuss:

- methods of virtualization of instructional resources
- one to one computing
- 24x7 access for students to school resources
- the importance of these topics to the education of today's students
- viability of "netbook" laptops

A sharing of progress of a pilot to investigate instructional benefits of these technologies and hear from:

- teachers, students, parents
- technical staff
- district instructional leaders

When: January 30, 2009 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Where: Erie 1 BOCES Education Campus
Room B2A and B2B

Who: Instructional and technical leaders of the WNYRIC region

Why: Instructional and technology leaders will attend together to hear what teachers and students say about how technology can enhance project based learning, to investigate some ways to virtualize and provide 24 x 7 access to school resources. Together we need to search for answers and ask questions about the teaching and learning environment in Western NY schools.
